To uphold intergenerational justice, environmental justice, and a just transition, while fulfilling the shared responsibility of protecting the Earth and ensuring national sustainable development, the county government has compiled the 2025 Voluntary Review Report. This report provides a comprehensive review of the county's sustainable development goals, summarizing their alignment with 13 key indicators to assess the progress of Matsu's sustainability strategies. With 2030 set as a mid-term milestone, the county government continuously reviews and updates each implementation goal, aligning the detailed targets of the United Nations Sustainable Development Goals with local indicators. This serves as a foundation for ongoing monitoring and evaluation, ensuring that all measures are accurately implemented, and mobilizing collective efforts to contribute to global sustainable development.
